

Our energies for a Better Life

Data centres

Bouygues Energies & Services's in-house, multi-disciplinary mission-critical teams have a wealth of world-class experience in the delivery of highly resilient, energy-efficient and cost-effective data centre solutions.

Our clients include internationally-recognised organisations, within both the public and private sectors. With extensive experience on both greenfield development and live operational sites, we work closely with our customers and offer unique lifecycle partnership solutions [1].

Utilising our in-house design and delivery teams, we provide services from site development, conceptual design, detailed design, construction, critical mechanical and electrical engineering through to integrated system testing and facilities management.